

Database Management System (DBMS) Architecture

Q. Explain the different types of Database Management System (DBMS) Architectures. Differentiate between Two-Tier and Three-Tier architecture.

> Definition to Remember

> DE
and a applica

1. Components of DBMS

A typical DBMS architecture consists of:

- U

2. Types of DBMS Architecture

DBMS architectures are classified into three tiers:

1. One-Tier Architecture

- The

2. Two-Tier Architecture (Client-Server)

- Div

3. Three-Tier Architecture

- Intr

[Client

[Application Layer]

Busine

[Database Layer]

DBMS

3. Difference: Two-Tier vs Three-Tier

| Feature | Two-Tier Architecture | Three-Tier Architecture |

> Must-Write Points (for 10 marks)

> Quick Recall

| :--- | :

> 1. D

> `One